With Love in Memory of

Levi Yitzchak Olenick

Levi loved people – his greatest pleasure was to be of “service” to others and his enthusiasm was unusual... This extended to being a dedicated doctor and an energetic participant of his community on many levels. He was inspired by different kinds of people but was extremely fair minded, not easily impressed by wealth or fame... To live by ethics and morals was his “wealth” and he invested his entire life to this goal. As a responsible and thoughtful husband, a caring and encouraging father, a loyal son and son-in-law, a helpful brother with a listening heart, and a playful uncle. He accomplished so much in life and his unique qualities will always be remembered...
